When FitWise sees a new patient, the first step is making sure that the person is overweight or obese. Then our medical team of registered dietitians, nurse practitioners and certified weight loss counselors helps clients develop an individualized weight loss plan and a commitment to healthier lifestyle changes. Studies show that increasing obesity is linked to increased risk of diabetes, heart disease, stroke, some cancers, reduced life expectancy and early death. A holistic approach is taken with clients. Weight loss programs are designed around the individual. There are many proven ways to create a healthier lifestyle. Overweight or obese individuals are encouraged to choose methods that fit their lifestyles, be they eating or exercise-based. We encourage clients to build a stronger support network and establish healthier social relationships. We see many clients learn the importance of eating and moving in a better way to give themselves more joy and better relationships. We do not judge clients who have tried unsuccessfully to lose weight in the past, we are proud of every client who succeeds in creating a lifestyle for themselves based on a healthier model. Changes can and do occur in the first week or month of a weight loss program. We encourage our clients to take small steps forward, and celebrate each success along the way. Ongoing support and encouragement is a major factor in successful weight loss. Many clients use weight loss, and a healthier lifestyle as a tool in building their fitness level. Activities such as walking, biking, weight training and yoga add to the fitness of individuals. People who are prepared to make a long-term change toward a healthier lifestyle are more likely to succeed. However, the most important factor in long-term success is a strong support network. Here at FitWise, we are proud to be a source of ongoing support to help our clients sustain a healthy weight for the rest of their lives. Carbohydrates are part of a balanced diet.
