AnyClient

AnyClient is a reliable and user-friendly software solution developed to assist you in transferring files, supporting a wide range of protocols, including FTP, SFTP, WebDAV, and several others, being able to help you connect to a remote directory and send or receive data in just a few clicks. Intuitive and straight-forward appearance The interface of the program is split into two windows, corresponding to the local and remote folder, while on the lower part of the screen, you can view the ongoing transfers, as well as the ones that were completed successfully or unsuccessfully. Under each panel, you have a set of buttons allowing you to create a new directory, rename, delete, upload or download a file. These functions can also be accessed by right clicking in the targeted section. Establish a connection and start transferring data from and to your remote directory For starters, you will need to connect to the remote system, which can be done from the 'File' menu, by selecting 'Site Manager'. This enables you to add a 'New Site', by entering the host, username, password and opting for a protocol. AnyClient supports several types of protocols, including FTP, AFTP, SFTP, WebDav, Amazon S3 (HTTP) and others, so you can work with whichever you prefer. At this stage, you can also choose the default local and the remote directories. Depending on the chosen protocol, you will be able to input a series of non-mandatory details in the 'Options' tab, specifically 'Proxy Settings', file timestamps, certificate authentication, and more. From the 'Sync' section, you can enable local and remote folder synchronization, allowing you to include or exclude certain file extensions from the process. Finally, you can save the entry and begin uploading or downloading data. A handy and to the point file transfer instrument In summary, AnyClient is a lightweight and very easy to use application aimed to serve as a means of performing file transfer operations, providing support for multiple protocols and featuring a synchronization function to help you level any discrepancies between folders. Hello Guys, My name is David. Thanks for watching this video. I made this video because when i started working as a technical support analyst at the customer support team of MICROSOFT ALL IN ONE KEYBOARD IS GOING EXTINCT THIS YEAR, so there is a risk that you lose your ability to type - which can take away your ability to work. Hi Guys, I already have about 9 years of experience as a technical support analyst. If you have any problems, you can send me a message via the email address. Don't forget to subscribe and hit the bell button so you will have news about my videos. Want to replace your mouse? Here are 4 options. 3 of which are free. Installing a Microsoft Surface Mouse The Surface Mouse is a USB mouse that plugs into your PC without any wires. The mouse has various buttons for different functions. While this is a good alternative to using a wired mouse, it is not as easy to set up as a wired mouse, which requires you to use software that is designed for that purpose. Keep reading to learn about the other 3 options. The Microsoft Surface Mouse The Microsoft Surface Mouse was invented by Microsoft in the year 2013. This mouse can be attached to your computer to use it without a wire. But this product is only designed for Windows 7 and Windows 8. It does not run on any version of Windows 8.1. The Surface Mouse is not a wired mouse. It requires a battery to charge and has several buttons for different functions. The mouse has a sensor that allows it to detect movements. There is a Bluetooth adapter included in the package. The adapter allows you to easily connect the Surface Mouse to your computer. The Bluetooth connection is compatible with Windows 7 and Windows 8. The device also has an optical sensor on the scroll wheel. The Windows experience index (WEI) for the Surface Mouse is 1260. The WEI is a number from 1 to 100 indicating the overall quality of the system. The WEI is not the same as the user rating. The Mouse Tracking The software used to track the mouse with the Surface Mouse is called Microsoft Surface Mouse Customization. This application costs a one-time purchase fee of $13.95. The software must be installed on
