Need help? If you need help accessing the software, please contact our Online IT Help Center via ServiceConnect or call 9514 2222. How to access the general .NET application?An example would be an example of an application that has access to a storage located in another city, and depending on where the user is located, they can access this data. Since the application uses .NET, its code can be compiled, run, managed, and so on based on the local environment. You can have multiple .NET applications that share the same storage or the same database.
