It was originally made by a team from the GVSU in 2006, but it was passed to the Internet Archive in 2008, along with the The Unreal Tournament 2004 Team Fortress II Game, Team Fortress Customization Engine, Counter-Strike: Source, Half-Life 2 Source Engine, Portal, Def Jam Vendetta, Dream Fortress, and E.V.O. Oracular Transmissions. The project started as a source game for the Big Buck Game Engine, and it soon turned into its own game after being sourced from Epic Games. and here is the other one: NOTE: If you have downloaded the topic videos, please delete them from your A: I found the solution with some help from a guru on the site. The answer is to use the http server at as the service for the video. The &t=0 means that the video is a list of 10 videos and the first list start with 000. This gives me a collection of 100 videos instead of 100 videos that I want. I have done this in the queue, and the video streams are now replacing the previous videos. Create Realistic Stained Glass from Giclée Prints If you are interested in creating a realistic stained glass effect for your photographs, a close-up of a stained glass window can serve as a wonderful starting point. The full-color images of stained glass, created by Melvyn Caul, can be printed on fine art canvas using the Giclée method. You can be sure of incredible detail and color accuracy. Supplies and materials needed: Digital Camera with macro lens Compact Light Box, a 6"x6" mat board box with a light, and a tripod Instructions on Tutorial are located at the bottom of this page. Photograph: Taking of Photograph 1. Place the camera on a tripod. If the light is to be diffuse, diffuse the light with a soft cloth, or use a push broom. If the light is to be more concentrated, direct the light with a candelabra or reflector. 2. Place the flash in the position that will give the best lighting effect for the photograph. 3. Take a small - 3"x4" or 4"x4" photograph of the stained glass design that you want to create. 4. The photograph should be taken at a close range of about 1/4 to 1/2 the width of the panes of stained glass. 5. To make an accurate copy of the stained glass photograph, mount it on a light box that is 6"x6" mat board box. This box will allow the light to pass through so that only the subject is illuminated. The box should have a light on the front that is turned on to a low level. 6. Open the box and turn
