Q: How do I create a fast WebGL demo of a Cube with page scrolling? I'm wondering how I can create a WebGL application or demo that will render a cube in full screen. The cube is supposed to be repositioned when scrolling. Now I am building that in javascript/html5 canvas, and it is working quite well, but I have two problems with it: The browser doesn't know how big it can make the canvas, so I need to specify the canvas dimensions. Is there any clever way to let the browser know how big it can make the canvas, because the top left corner of my cube should always be in the middle of the browser window? I tried to use the canvas as a movie clip, but it doesn't look right: .video-container { position: fixed; top: 50px; bottom: 50px; left: 50px; right: 50px; width: 100%; height: 100%; overflow-x: hidden; overflow-y: auto; position: absolute; z-index: 0; } .video-container video { width: 100%; 648931e174

Masters of None: Creating a Business on Your Terms The idea of being your own boss can mean different things to different people. However, it can also mean creating your own company by means of creating a brand or branding your current company. Branding your company is a choice that may or may not suit you. So, what are the chances of creating a brand for your business and are there ways of going about doing it? Definition of a Branding Strategy A branding strategy is a plan that will be used in helping to create and maintain a brand that is representative of your company. A strategy for a brand is basically any method of making your company more identifiable, therefore, helping it to come to the fore of the public's eye. This is carried out by making your company appear more appealing to your customers, so therefore it can also reflect your company more strongly. Business Trademarking As your business starts growing, it may be beneficial to trademark your company's name. By doing so, you are legally protecting your company from a business that may want to look like yours, therefore it will be seen as the same. However, be advised that trademarking your company name is not simple. It can be a long-winded process so you are advised to consult a professional. Registration Business Name If you are confident of your branding strategy for your company, it would be beneficial to register your company's name. This helps to ensure that others who may use your company name cannot have the same business name as yours. Rebranding a Company Rebranding a company can be carried out in many different ways, it all depends on your own financial situation as well as how comfortable you are in doing so. There are many ways of rebranding a company, for example: Changing logos Changing colours Changing fonts Changing business names Changing website content
