Vietnam's Prime Minister Nguyen Xuan Phuc briefed the media after the conference of the National Assembly Vietnam's Prime Minister Nguyen Xuan Phuc briefed the media after the conference of the National Assembly Cần Thơ (VNA) - The National Assembly convened Saturday at noon to discuss the report on the country's economic growth rate and employment in 2014, reaching 104.3 percent year-on-year. Prime Minister Nguyen Xuan Phuc presented the report with the GDP forecast for 2014 and 2015 at the National Assembly, reporting that the forecast was good. He noted that investment in enterprise growth has significantly increased, adding that GDP has risen far ahead of the development roadmap in targeted fields. He said the rate of growth is now higher than the previous year, reaching 91.6 percent, mainly due to strong international demand and production. With strong foreign currency reserves, the Ministry of Finance can pay more to repay foreign debt and manage foreign exchange reserves. He said the country will maintain a neutral monetary policy which is reasonable and consistent, and maintain the trade surplus by importing commodities and exporting finished goods. In addition, he said the Government will work to reduce costs and encourage consumption. The Prime Minister advised the Government to submit relevant reports to the National Assembly and the people in the unified development period of seven years, conduct talks and develop policies to establish a stable, durable economic and social development. He asked the Government, local authorities and people to work together, so as to solve problems that hinder economic growth. He said the Government is set on economic and social development, and will upgrade its industrial structure based on state-owned enterprises in the industrial sector. The National Assembly decided to hold the conference on Thursday to discuss and analyse the report, involving representatives from the Government, the economic sectors and the sectors related to employment, including the National Assembly's Committee on
